

Element Performance Inspection (EPI) Data Collection Tool
1.3.14 General Maintenance Manual / Equivalent (AW)

ELEMENT SUMMARY INFORMATION

Purpose of This Element (Certificate Holder's responsibility):

- To provide policy, procedures, instructions and information that allow for the preparation of the General Maintenance Manual / Equivalent.

Objective (FAA oversight responsibility):

- To determine if there were any changes in the personnel identified by the Certificate Holder as having responsibility and/or authority for the General Maintenance Manual / Equivalent preparation.
- To determine if the Certificate Holder follows its procedures, controls, process measurements and interfaces for the preparation of the General Maintenance Manual / Equivalent.

Specific Instructions:

- To accomplish this EPI, the inspector should verify that the Certificate Holder's Manual contains adequate information to instruct and guide maintenance personnel in the accomplishment of their duties and responsibilities. The Certificate Holder's General Maintenance Manual / Equivalent preparation must ensure that the policies, procedures, instructions and information not only meet the applicable regulatory requirements but are effective in doing so. Questions 1.1 through 1.6 in Section 1 of this EPI are asking just that, if the procedures or instructions are effective. For example when answering question 1.6, you find that turn-over reports are frequently overlooked and aircraft or equipment is subsequently operated in an unairworthy or unsafe condition. First, you have to determine if it was a failure to follow the provided instructions or procedures versus a weak or inadequate procedure or instruction being in place. The choices on the Drop Down Menu for Section 1 will give you ideas as to what to look for when you are reviewing the procedures or instructions. Questions 1.1 through 1.6 are not being asked to find fault with any one procedure or instruction contained in the manual but to determine if the Certificate Holder is proactive in revising their manual when warranted.
